

Inspired by Nature Designed for Living

The name Antera reflects balance — strength and lightness, technology and nature, precision and beauty.

Every detail is designed to create a calm and effortless movement through the home. Clean architectural lines, warm materials, and carefully crafted lighting transform the elevator from a functional necessity into an integrated design feature.

Antera is not simply installed in a home, it becomes part of its architecture.

Without Shaft With Shaft

Two Installation Solutions. One Luxury Experience.

Antera offers two installation options to suit different architectural needs, without compromising on comfort, technology, or design.

Both models feature the same premium finishes, intelligent controls, advanced safety systems, and customizable options, ensuring a consistent Antera experience in every installation.

Antera – Without Shaft

Designed for projects where a shaft structure is already in place, the elevator is supplied as a cabin-only solution, without a glass or steel shaft provided.

Best Suited For:

- › Homes with existing hoistways
- › Renovation and modernization projects
- › Concrete, steel, or other adequately reinforced structures

Antera – With Shaft

Designed for homes with a planned shaft, the elevator is a fully integrated solution with a Cibes glass or steel shaft for seamless design and installation.

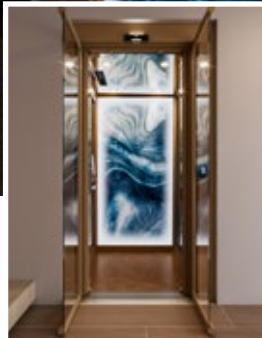

Best Suited For:

- › New residential builds
- › Homes with planned shaft space
- › Fully integrated designs
